Teen Training at High Country Fitness

We understand the importance of safe and effective training for teens.

While there are age restrictions for weight training, we've created specific protocols for young athletes aged 14–16 to ensure they train safely as they grow.

Our knowledgeable staff are here to guide your child through the best and safest training practices.

For children under 14, we offer personal training options to keep them engaged in fitness safely.

Our friendly team is always here to help!
